THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

Briefly

Adopt-a-pet day

The Madison County Humane Society will hold an adopt-a-pet day from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday at PetsMart in O'Fallon. Puppies and kittens of all shapes, sizes and breeds will be available for adoption. Many adult pets and purebreds that have been spayed or neutered are also available for adoption, as are declawed cats. Dog adoptions are $40; cat adoptions are $20. The regular animal shelter is on Illinois 143 east of Edwardsville.

Eticam gets state, U.S. waste permit

By Bob State
Staff writer

A plan to construct a $10 million hazardous-waste treatment plant in Granite City is one step closer to becoming a reality. Eticam-Granite, Inc. was issued a final hazardous-waste permit, pursuant to the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) and Solid Waste Amendments (RCRA/HSWA), by the Illinois and U.S. Environmental Protection agencies Sept. 30 to operate a wastewater treatment and metals recycling facility in Granite City. Eticam has yet to receive approval on a recently filed application for an EPA permit for air pollution emission control devices. It has not yet applied for a water pollution control permit necessary to tie-in to the local sewer system, Mara McGinnis of the IEPA said. She said both permits must be obtained before Eticam may begin operations. But the hazardous-waste permit issued jointly Sept. 30 by IEPA and USEPA was characterized by McGinnis as the biggest obstacle Eticam had to overcome in the permitting process. "They still have a ways to go, but this was the big one," she said. "The proposed location for the plant is on Highway 3, slightly more than one-half mile away from Prather Elementary School. School officials and other residents have expressed concern regarding the safety of the proposed facility. A response summary, detailing IEPA responses to technical concerns expressed during the permitting process, is available at the Granite City District Library, 2001 Delmar Ave. The RCRA/HSWA permit is based on the technical merits of the application only, and not on the popularity of the project, McGinnis said. The regulations do not have setback requirements which prohibit the construction of a hazardous-waste management facility within a specified distance from a school or residential area, according to the response summary. As a result of comments received from the public, IEPA has made two major modifications to the Eticam permit, according to the response summary. Eticam must submit a Hazard and Operability study (HazOp), designed to identify hazards which may be caused by the facility's design features or its operational plan, prior to construction. will help the company offset rising operating expenses and institute a $10.7 million capital improvement program over the next two years in the interurban district, which covers the Metro-East. Robert Jackson, southern division manager for the water company, said. He said the company's last rate increase went into effect in December 1990. Sextus Markuszewski said the water company should deal with increased costs in the same manner the general public does.

ICC water rate hearing sparsely attended

By Bob State
Staff writer

Imagine a public hearing which nobody attended. That was almost the case Monday night, when the Illinois Commerce Commission held a public hearing at the Granite City Town Hall on a proposed Illinois-American Water Company rate increase. About 25 people, including 10 water company employees, three representatives of the ICC and a court reporter, attended the hearing. Only four water company customers spoke out against the proposed 20 percent increase. Robert Bensko, chief public forum officer for the ICC, said Illinois-American applied March 13 for a 20 percent overall increase in rates and for consolidation of several downstate districts into one division. The increase, if approved in full, could raise rates for residential customers by an average $5 per bill, the water company estimated. The additional $10.5 million in revenues will help the company offset rising operating expenses and institute a $10.7 million capital improvement program over the next two years in the interurban district, which covers the Metro-East. Robert Jackson, southern division manager for the water company, said. He said the company's last rate increase went into effect in December 1990. Sextus Markuszewski said the water company should deal with increased costs in the same manner the general public does.

"We're all in trouble. Why don't all our utility companies tighten their belts, like we (the public) have?" Markuszewski asked. Milton Morris, a Venice business owner for 43 years, said water quality needs improving and expressed concern about living down-river from petroleum refineries in the Wood River area. He said he recently had to replace a corroded galvanized steel pipe which ran from the water main to his business. When he flushed the pipe out, he found a (See HEARING, Page 2A)

Perot backers await answers

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

Madison County supporters of Ross Perot were waiting for word Monday on whether the national Perot campaign will provide money to open an office here. "We're supposed to get some word later on today about the money situation," said Dan Counts of Granite City, Madison County coordinator for Illinois Citizens for Perot. "We don't have any final answers yet as far as what the finances are and whether we'll have a full-fledged office with phone lines and everything."

Counts said word on money for an office would come from the national campaign officials through state coordinators in Chicago and Springfield. Counts and other local campaign officials currently work out of their homes. Most meetings have been held at Randy's Restaurant in Troy. He said he also was waiting to find out if the Madison County organization will receive yard signs, more buttons and bumper stickers, and copies of Perot's book, "United We Stand." The local organization has already received about 2,500 buttons and 500 stickers, many of which have been distributed. (See PEROT, Page 2A)

Clinton blasts President

By Lois Kendall
Staff writer

The fresh produce bargain hunters at Soudard Market in St. Louis Saturday were the first in the country to hear the official word confirming Sunday's presidential debate. Clinton drew a roar of cheers from the crowd who packed the market when he announced that the first presidential debate would be in St. Louis. Clinton said Sunday's debate would be more than just an individual contest, but rather will focus on "the great ideas that shape a country's destiny." The event will be at 6 p.m. at the Washington University Field House and will include three candidates — Clinton, President George Bush and Ross Perot — said Sally Aman, a Democratic campaign spokeswoman. The format will be a panel of questioners, still to be decided, Aman said. The two successive debates will be Oct. 15 in Richmond, Va., and Oct. 19 in East Lansing, Mich. The vice presidential debate will be Oct. 13 in Atlanta, Ga. Aside from the debate news, the main focus of Clinton's stump speech was the economy. He blasted the Bush administration, saying the president promised 30 million new jobs, but delivered instead a reduction. (See CLINTON, Page 2A)

Fraud alleged in sale of living trust plans

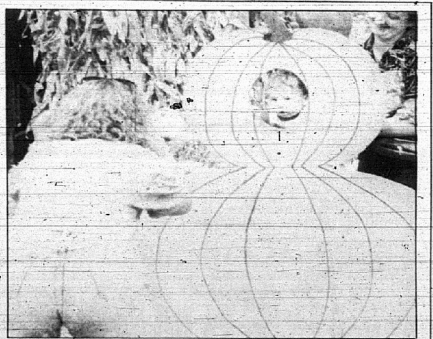

SPRINGFIELD — Attorney General Roland Burris has filed a lawsuit against a Texas-based company alleging it defrauded an Alton man and other elderly Illinois citizens. The suit, filed in Sangamon County Circuit Court, charges American Association for Senior Citizens Inc. used high-pressure tactics and misleading claims in selling living trust plans for as much as $2,999. It alleges the company engaged in consumer fraud and also engaged in the unauthorized practice of law. The lawsuit alleges the firm marketed plans to provide living trusts. Living trusts allow people to transfer their assets into a trust while they are still living. The assets of the trust would be distributed in the event of the buyer's disability or death. Burris alleged the firm misrepresented probate taxes and other costs to induce at least 20 or more Illinois residents to pay it at least $42,000. One of the 20 Illinois seniors who complained to the attorney general's office about the scheme is an Alton man who did not wish to be publicly identified, said Jim Leach, a spokesman for Burris. The elderly Alton man paid about $2,000 and really didn't have any need for it, said Leach. The lawsuit also alleges the Dallas-based firm deliberately tried to create the impression it was affiliated with the American Association of Retired Persons, although that organization has no links to American Association for Senior Citizens, Inc. Leach said at least 20 other states have also either brought lawsuits, started investigations or obtained settlements against the Texas firm. "An attorney can help people decide what financial arrangements are necessary to protect one's estate. Companies which arrange living trusts without the proper legal background and experience are not working in the senior citizen's best interest, and they are not working within the law," Burris said.

Today is deadline for applications

Today, Oct. 7, is the deadline for charitable agencies to apply for funding from the 1992 Old Newsboys Day drive. All applications must either be received or postmarked by Oct. 7 to be eligible. Old Newsboys Day will be Thursday, Nov. 19. On that day, thousands of volunteers will sell special editions of the Suburban Journals. All money from those street sales will go to numerous local charitable agencies. Applications must be sent to Old Newsboys Day, c/o Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

tion of 35,000 jobs in the private sector. Clinton said the average annual family income has been reduced by $1,600 in the past two years. There's been a reduction of nearly 100,000 Americans per month who are covered by health insurance, he said, and one in every 10 Americans is now on food stamps.

"Everything that's down should be up, and everything that's up should be down," Clinton said. "We're going to turn this country right side up again."

He cited a recent TV report that said Bush was shutting down American plants and relocating them to Central America, using American tax dollars for low-interest loans to pay for relocation.

George Bush spent your tax dollars to train people in other countries to take your jobs,"

Clinton said. "He spent your money to advertise the fact that manufacturers could shut plants down here and pay 27 cents an hour to workers in Central America. Poverty here and poverty there is the policy of the Bush administration."

Clinton said he believes in expanding foreign trade, but on terms that are fair to the American public. "Two-thirds of the American people are working harder today for lower wages than they had 10 years ago," Clinton said. "We need to grow more jobs, more opportunities. We need to give more incentive to invest in American jobs, industry and agriculture. We need to reinvest defense money to put people back to work in jobs that will build the economy for the 21st century."

Clinton also touched on his programs for health care and education. "Under my plan, all Americans will have health insurance, and every family will save $1,179 annually on health care by the year 2000."

He said he would guarantee that every high school graduate who is not going to college would be offered two years of apprenticeship training. "Anyone who wants to go to college would be able to borrow the money, repaying it after they finish their training or completing school or by working for their country for two years before or after college."

"We could solve the problems of our country from the grass roots level and educate all Americans," Clinton said. "It would be the best money ever spent."

"We are united by the conviction that there is nobody to waste," that everybody has a place, that everybody counts. I believe with all my heart that together we can make this happen. Together we can make America great again."

Libertarian candidate won't be at debate

By Paul Thompson

Staff writer

Libertarian presidential candidate Andre Marrou will be in town this weekend on a campaign swing.

But unlike his three main opponents in the race for the White House — Republican President George Bush, Democrat Bill Clinton and Independent Ross Perot — Marrou was not invited to join the debate set for Sunday at Washington University.

"We're protesting that," said Ken Bush, a spokesman for the local Libertarian Party.

"By any fair criteria, the Libertarian candidate should be included in the debates. We feel both Marrou and Perot should be included in the debates, but especially if Perot is included, we should be."

Bush, of Creve Couer, said

efforts are under way to convince organizers to include Marrou in the debate. Unlike Perot's newly formed United We Stand, America party, the Libertarian Party has been in existence for some time — since 1971 to be exact.

Marrou and his running mate, Nancy Lord, will appear on ballots in all 50 states — only others besides Bush, Clinton and Perot and their running mate.

"We actually beat the Perot people," Bush said. "Marrou was on the ballot in all 50 states before."

Marrou, a former state legislator from Alaska, was nominated at the Libertarian Party convention in August 1991. He will arrive in St. Louis on Thursday and will be speaking at political science classes at the University of Missouri-St. Louis and St. Louis Community College at Meramec on Thursday.

Marrou will speak at a rally at 7 p.m. Friday at the Viking Inn, Lindbergh and Watson roads in Sunset Hills.

Many of the 30 Libertarians seeking state office also will attend the event, which is free and open to the public.

"He'll also be visiting various companies and college campuses and making media appearances," Bush said.

At 11 a.m. Friday, Marrou is set to speak at Jefferson College in Hillsboro, following radio interviews on KSHE-FM 94.7 and KMOX-AM 1120.

Founded in 1971, the Libertarian Party advocates sharply limited government in favor of expanded personal and economic freedom.

Eticam

The company must also monitor groundwater-table fluctuations for the life of the facility, the response summary states.

If approved, the facility would be permitted to receive and process heavy metals such as barium, arsenic, cadmium, lead and mercury, oxidizers, corrosive wastes (acids and alkalies), and reactive wastes like cyanide, according to the response summary.

Those wastes would be processed by first destroying any cyanide present in the waste stream and then would be treated to concentrate metals into a sludge. The sludge would be sent to smelters to be used as an ore. No waste disposal will take place on-site, according to the response summary.

No nuclear waste will be accepted at the facility, and dioxin could not be treated at the plant unless permit modification is requested.

"At least two complete RCRA inspections of the facility would be conducted each year by EPA. More frequent inspections might occur if there were violations or if complaints about the facility were received."

A Granite City Council-commissioned study of the facility, conducted by Sverdrup Corporation of St. Louis and completed July 20, found that the Eticam facility could be safe if properly managed, but also cited a number of alleged violations at two other Eticam facilities, one in Nevada and one in New Jersey.

The additional HazOp study requirement came as a result of the Sverdrup review, according to the response summary.

McGinnis said she is unsure if the Sverdrup study would automatically be considered in the air pollution and sewage connection permit applications or if the document must be resubmitted for consideration.

Granite City

Gaming arrests at bar

Carol L. Levart, 34, of the 2400 block of Broadway Avenue, and Teresa K. David, 24, of the 3000 block of Edgewood Avenue, were arrested at 8:55 p.m. Oct. 1 for gambling.

Officers allege that David, an employee of T.J.'s Bar, 1539 Madison Ave., "paid off" Levart for her score on a video slot machine at the establishment.

Levart and David were each released on a notice to appear in court. According to a police report, $155 was confiscated in the incident.

4 charges against man

Floyd E. Cotton, 19, of the 400 block of Lincoln Avenue in Venice, was arrested at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 1 for disorderly conduct, battery, resisting arrest and unlawful possession of a firearm.

Officers dispatched to the Tilt Motel, 1100 N. Dearborn Ave., in reference to a fight with a school, reported seeing Cotton carrying a 5- to 6-foot-long tree branch, waving it and threatening people.

Cotton is alleged to have attempted to pull away when being apprehended.

Two small bags of a green leafy substance, allegedly cannabis, were discovered in the squad car that had transported Cotton to the police station.

A 21-year-old Madison woman signed a complaint against Cotton, alleging he pushed her while she held a nine-month-old baby in her arms, causing the baby's head to hit a wall.

Levart and David were each released on a notice to appear in court. According to a police report, $155 was confiscated in the incident.

Possession alleged

Kelly M. Morgan, 17, of the 1900 block of Sixth Street, East Madison, was arrested at 10:25 a.m. Oct. 2 for unlawful possession of cannabis.

She, and a 16-year-old Granite City boy are alleged to have passed a cigarette, believed to contain cannabis, while walking down the YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., to Coordinated Youth Services, where they both attend school.

Both Morgan and the juvenile were charged and released on notices to appear in court.

DUI charged

Ronald E. Haley, 35, of Koenig Park in Pontoon Beach, was arrested at 2:11 a.m. Oct. 2 for driving under the influence of alcohol, illegal transportation of alcohol and improper lane usage.

An officer reported seeing a green 1973 Dodge pickup truck swerving from lane to lane on Edwardsville Road near Granite City Steel. Two cold cans of beer — one opened — were confiscated from the vehicle, according to a police report.

Sign damaged in fight

Dian L. Stump, 38, of the 1000 block of Maple Street, was arrested at 10:35 p.m. Oct. 1 for resisting arrest and damage to city property.

Stump allegedly became irate and fought with police at the police station. A sign in the station was destroyed in the incident, according to a police report.

worm in a toilet tank.

"I just wonder how many worms I've digested," Morris said.

He advocates the use of existing sand in the American Bottoms — the area was once a river bed — as a filtration system.

"It seems like utilities are always looking for reasons for a rate increase. I intend to live to be 150 years old. But I won't if I drink this water," Morris said.

Nick Mitrovich, of Granite City, a retired Monsanto employee, said: "Everybody's getting a piece of the pie but the residents. We don't get to eat."

Joe Cathy of Granite City said he has more than $20,000 in medical bills due to his wife's illness. He said the additional $5, per month would be a hardship on his family.

"Five dollars a month is a lot for me right now," he said.

Cathy, who worked at American Steel until he retired on a disability in 1974, pointed out that the water company employees outnumbered the other residents in attendance.

The Commerce Commission will hold two additional hearings on the proposal. They will be Oct. 13 at the Alton Middle tributed, Counts said.

He said he was told Perot is buying a million copies of his book to be distributed in local campaign offices.

"The books are in the works, and the buttons and the stickers really aren't a problem," Counts said.

"The yard signs are what we're really trying to get. We're looking for at least 500 — that's the bare minimum — but we could use more."

Counts said he has also gotten some instruction from "those higher up in the campaign." During a meeting in Springfield on Saturday, county coordinators were instructed to run a precinct-by-precinct campaign. Counts said the Madison County group already has gotten a precinct list, and local coordinators will assign volunteers to their local precincts.

The ICC is expected to act on the request in February.

Counts and Collinsville Coordinator Patti Jukes both said Monday that volunteers are needed even more than yard signs and money for a campaign office.

Those who are interested in volunteering are asked to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Randy's Restaurant.

"We've got 40 people who are die-hard, 100 percent time and effort people, and we've got 50 more who are involved (to a lesser extent)," said Counts.

"We could easily use 100 more. The more people who want to make this happen, the better."

Cahokia-Sauget proposed for bridge

By Peggy O'Farrell
Staff writer

Cahokia Mayor Mike King said he hopes the Cahokia-Sauget area will be given some consideration as a possible site for a new bridge from St. Louis to the Metro East area.

The East Carondelet area was mentioned as a possible site for the proposed Mississippi River bridge, which would ease traffic congestion on existing bridges.

King, along with representatives of the village of Sauget, Centerville Township and the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, met Monday morning with Dale Klor, district engineer for the Illinois Department of Transportation, to discuss the bridge.

State Rep. Wyvetter Young, D-East St. Louis, attended the meeting.

King said no specific locations are being considered for the bridge yet.

He indicated, however, that project engineers are looking at two sites south of the Poplar Street Bridge, including the East Carondelet area, and two sites between the Martin Luther King and McKinley bridges.

"So far, you're the only group that has expressed an interest south of the Poplar Street Bridge," he said.

Klor said Madison County officials had expressed an interest in the bridge.

Construction of a bridge would be jointly funded by the states of Illinois and Missouri and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Klor said the cost would be "in the neighborhood of $250 million, give or take $50 million. And only a third of that cost is going to be the construction of the bridge itself."

The other two-thirds, he said, would go for upgrading connector roads and intersections leading to the bridge.

King and Francis Touchette of Centerville Township said they would support the project as a boon to the Metro East area's economy.

"I realize the location may not be in Cahokia," King said.

"But I would like to address that. If there is anything at all that could be set up meeting-wise, I would like to ask that special consideration be given, that Cahokia would be at least looked at. We'd sure like to go on the record in support of constructing a bridge."

"Other than the fact that the traffic flow is here, if Sauget does get that gambling boat, and we all hope and pray that they do, it's a direct avenue right into the village," King said.

Touchette called Monday's meeting "a little premature, but we wanted to get together in support" of the project.

President's signature only holdup in Scott plan funding

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

The party hats and noise makers have not been ordered, but the last cent of federal money to fund Scott Joint-Use is awaiting the signing of 10 letters — GEORGE BUSH.

The U.S. Congress passed a defense budget bill Saturday that includes $60 million over three years to relocate the Cardinal Creek housing development for joint-use.

The announcement is the second in less than a week in support of the facility. On Sept. 30, the federal government committed $140 million over the next 10 years to help build the airport.

St. Clair County Board Chairman John Baricevic told the Journal last week that the Cardinal Creek funding was the last piece of the financing pie the county needed to complete funding for the project.

"The president has not signed it (the defense bill) yet, so now it goes to the White House," he said. "We're close. The only thing separating us is the president's signature."

Congressman Jerry F. Costello, who sponsored the bill, called joint-use "the most significant economic development project we have in southern Illinois."

"With the president's signature, all of the significant funding questions for joint-use at Scott will have been resolved," Costello said.

Based on that signing, Baricevic said the county is tentatively planning "an October ground-breaking ceremony for Scott Joint Use."

If approved, the funds will pay to replace the 1,072-unit housing facility and add better parking and playground facilities, he said.

The complex now sits near the Air Force runway, but will be between two runways if not moved for joint-use, Baricevic has said. The Air Force required the move because of its concern about the psychological effect being between the two paths would have on residents.

The specific number of units to be built has not been determined, he said. The U.S. Air Force makes that decision.

The $310 million Scott Joint-Use project will combine military and commercial airports at Scott Air Force Base outside Belleville. Besides new housing, the air base will benefit from longer runways, a new flight tower and other improvements.

The airport also will be funded through a $10 million bond issue passed by the County Board in June and $60 million in Illinois funds over the next five years.

"We're on schedule which means there will be no construction delays, costs overruns and that'll mean no increase in local tax money (to fund the project)," Baricevic said.

Tax enforcement effort begins

The Illinois Department of Revenue has launched "Operation Bootlegger," an enforcement action that targets nonpayment of state taxes by bars, liquor stores and restaurants that sell alcoholic beverages.

The department believes there is a high degree of underreporting of sales taxes by retail liquor establishments.

The state is prepared under operation Bootlegger to seize the business assets of establishments that refuse either to pay taxes or to agree to a payment schedule.

"Seizure is a step we would prefer not to take, but other collection measures have failed," said Douglas L. Whitley, director of the Department of Revenue.

Special attention will be given to reviewing records to assure that taxes paid by customers have been sent to the state.

"Citizens who have paid these taxes are entitled to our strongest collection efforts," Whitley said.

Agents of the Department of Revenue and the Illinois Liquor Control Commission will go out in pairs to canvass liquor establishments.

The agents will use laptop computers to check for payments of sales and withholding taxes. The agents will also check for proper licensing, test cigarette stamps and attempt to help taxpayers with specific problems.

Already under way is a computer analysis of accounts by department auditors to identify retail liquor stores most likely to be underpaying sales taxes.

Other stores will be selected at random for compliance audits.

As part of Operation Bootlegger, the department has already asked the Liquor Control Commission to revoke the state liquor licenses of 82 establishments.

Further, the city of Chicago has agreed not to renew the city liquor licenses of businesses that owe state taxes.

"Operation Bootlegger does more than just collect taxes," said Whitley.

"It shows honest taxpayers that we are working for them. Our resolve to collect these taxes should be noted by other kinds of businesses."

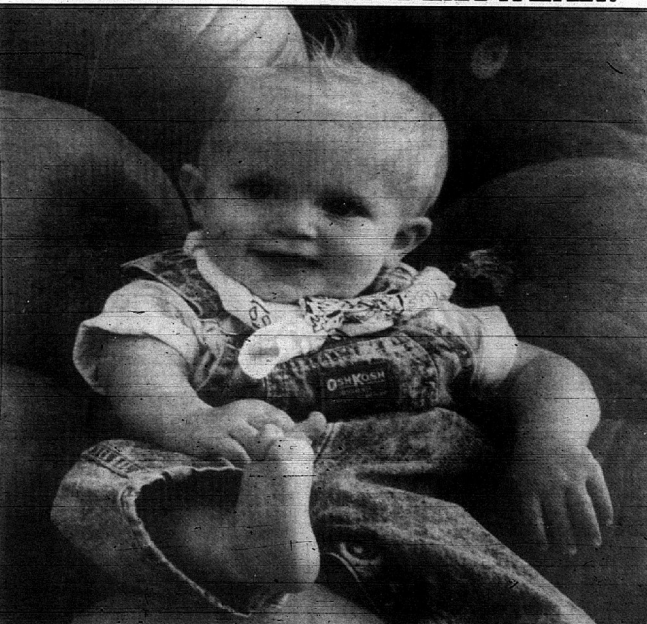

Ryan issues warning on farm vehicles on roads

Secretary of State George H. Ryan recently joined the Illinois Farm Bureau and Country Companies Insurance in alerting motorists that harvest season means more slow moving vehicles on Illinois roads.

In 1991, there were more than 254 accidents involving farm equipment in Illinois, with 76 resulting in injury or death," Ryan said. "We are hoping this harvest season will be a safer one for both farmers and motorists."

Ryan urged motorists to be extra alert on country roads, reduce speed when they see the fluorescent orange and red slow-moving vehicle emblem, watch for unexpected turns and use extreme caution when passing farm equipment.

Civil War political era will be topic

Patrick Riddleberger, professor emeritus of historical studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will discuss "Democrats and Republicans during the Civil War" at the first program in the university's fall schedule of "Dialogue for Senior Citizens."

Sponsored by the Gerontology Program, the presentation will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 7, in the Mississippi-Illinois Rooms of the University Center.

Riddleberger will focus on the rise of the Republican Party; the election of Lincoln; the Democratic opposition to Lincoln's administration during the Civil War and postwar reconstruction; and the historical roots of today's Democratic and Republican parties.

Dialogue for Senior Citizens is an educational and cultural enrichment program for older adults.

Its programs are free and open to the public. Transportation is available at the Edwardsville Senior Citizens Center, 1003 Main St. A bus leaves the center for the campus at 12:30 p.m. each Wednesday.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Anthony Traxler, director of the Gerontology Program at SIUE, at 692-3454.

'Fantastic' response to Earnfare, official says

More than 200 private, non-profit, community and government employers in Illinois have expressed interest in Earnfare since Gov. Jim Edgar signed the pioneering legislation last month, State Public Aid Director Phil Bradley said recently.

Effective Oct. 1, Earnfare will pay the wages of single adult food stamp recipients who volunteer for part-time work with an Earnfare employer. An Earnfare employee will receive up to $154 a month at no cost to the employer.

"The response to Earnfare so far has been nothing short of fantastic," said Bradley. "Employers throughout the Chicago area and around the state have asked about the program and many have offered jobs for us to fill."

"We've already begun working with a variety of employers to develop Earnfare programs with their operations in mind. They include the Marriott Corp. of Rosemont and the Museum of Science and Industry on Chicago's South Side."

"The Marriott Corp. in Illinois is definitely interested in being an Earnfare employer," said Kathleen Duffy Masset, Midwest regional manager of community employment and training programs. "As an operator of hotels and motels and contract food services in this state, we believe an Earnfare partnership will be beneficial to Marriott and Earnfare workers."

"Earnfare will pay dividends two ways," said Deborah Lucien, director of public relations for the Museum of Science and Industry. "It offers us the opportunity to undertake some projects at the museum while putting people from our community to work. We're eager to be among the first Earnfare employers."

Bradley said, "In this economy, Earnfare is a great program for employers, especially those needing a ready source of workers but lacking the money to pay wages. Earnfare also gives volunteers the chance to develop work experience and the chance of getting full-time employment."

Earnfare will put former Transitional Assistance (TA) clients to work in Chicago, East St. Louis and selected downstate areas. Cash assistance to employable TA clients was eliminated last July 1. General assistance for families, children and persons deemed unemployable has been continued.

The department has set a goal of offering part-time employment to as many as 10,000 former TA recipients by next June 30. Employers cannot use Earnfare volunteers to take the place of regular or union employees.

Employers wanting to participate in Earnfare can request an application from the department by calling 1-800-327-JOBS (6267) between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Extension service officers elected

The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois have appointed Extension council members for the 1992-93 program year.

Officers elected represent the Madison-St. Clair Cooperative Extension Service for the local area to the University of Illinois.

Serving in 1992-93 are chairman, John Sowers, O'Fallon; vice chair, Mildred Collins, Granite City; secretary, Sandy Ohren, Edwardsville; and treasurer, Dale Watchel, Freeburg.

Additional members of the council are Julie Heberer, Belleville; Bonnie Hardy, Lebanon; Francell Morgan and Vivian Sanders, East St. Louis; Jana Range, Marissa; Jim Morrison, Collinsville; Eliza Beth Lewin, Edwardsville; Arla Ault, Granite City; Neil Claussen, Bethalto; Linda Mumie, Caseyville; Larry Groh, New Athens; Carol M. Hess, Alhambra; Carol Seibert, Mascoutah; Lillia Daiber, Marine; and Leslie Malan, Highland.

Extension Council members guide and direct programs for the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. The Cooperative Service, the largest outreach unit of the University of Illinois, extends the knowledge and resources of the state's land grant university to the people of Illinois.

It assists people in identifying educational needs, and provides practical information and education to meet those needs. The Extension Service functions through a unique partnership of federal, state and local governments working with a vast corps of volunteers to extend knowledge, results and technological development to the people who can benefit from them.

SIUE cuts may not hit faculty

SPRINGFIELD — A recommendation to eliminate a dozen degree programs at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville may not have an impact on the faculty.

SIUE President Earl Lazerson said the proposals from the Board of Higher Education staff to improve productivity were just a first step.

"Even if the university were to agree with some of the program eliminations, there would be very little impact on faculty," he said.

"We would simply not be teaching courses in those areas and would be doing other things," Lazerson added.

"I am satisfied we have a faculty that meets our needs in terms of our mission statement," Lazerson said Monday, responding to the BHE staff recommendations on improving productivity at state universities.

Lazerson said the specific recommendations in the BHE report still have not been reviewed by the university, but he said internal reviews of whether to continue programs are always underway.

The BHE is expected to vote on its staff proposals at its November meeting but it would be up to the SIUE board to decide what degrees should no longer be offered. That process will take several months, Lazerson said.

However, Lazerson said he was pleased with what he called an expansion of SIUE's mission statement in the BHE staff report.

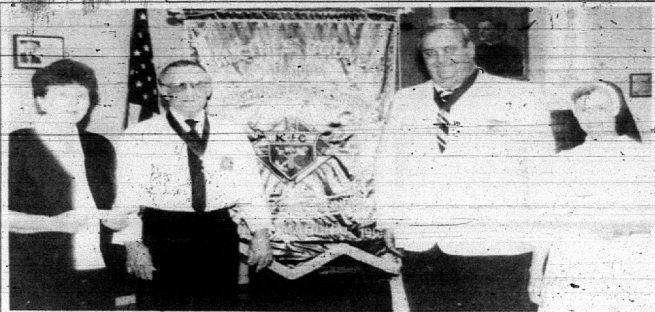

Lazerson said he is pleased the BHE proposal emphasizes SIUE's role in nursing and engineering education for the entire southern Illinois region.

"I felt it really expanded the scope of our work. They recognized our interests in terms of the general metro (St. Louis) area and not just Illinois."

The SIUE president also said he supported the intention of the BHE to focus on eliminating programs with little student demand because of tightening state budgets. Lazerson said he expected the problem to continue at least three to five more years.

Reading council to hold annual banquet

The Lewis and Clark Reading Council will hold its annual Fall Banquet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 13, at the Ramada Inn, 144 and Illinois 159, Fairview Heights.

Joan Canton, in-personal and Lady Joan from the Middle Ages, will present a program titled, "Arthur Alive." She will transport the audience back to the days of King Arthur in story, music and costume.

Along with the banquet and speaker, the Council is sponsoring a book shower for the parents and reading committee. All attendees are asked to bring a preschool book to be used in the reading packets for mothers of newborns in various hospitals in our five county area.

The Lewis and Clark Reading Council is an affiliate of the Illinois Reading Council and the International Reading Association. Reading teachers, administrators and other people interested in promoting the joy and importance of reading comprise the membership of the Council.

Lewis and Clark Reading Council serves Macoupin, Madison, Monroe, Jersey and St. Clair counties.

17 SIUE senior citizen programs begin this week

3 attend Democratic meetings

Illinois State Central Committeewoman Judy Whitaker and her two appointed delegates, Eleanor Armour of Madison and Kim Affolter of Granite City, traveled to Springfield in late summer to represent Madison County at the 1992 Illinois State Democratic Convention.

Prior to the convention, Whitaker, Armour and Affolter participated in a "Day of Hope" rally at the State Fairgrounds, where U.S. Sen. Al Gore, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, gave an address.

The three women then joined a large group of Democrats gathered to listen to speeches given by Ron Brown, Democratic national chairman, Illinois Attorney General Roland Burris and Carol Moseley Braun, Illinois Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate.

That afternoon, the three left the fairgrounds to attend the Illinois State Democratic Convention in Decatur.

Gary J. LaPaille, chairman of the Democratic Party of Illinois, led the delegates and Democratic Leaders through the convention business.

Keynote addresses were made by Brown, Braun and U.S. Rep. Glenn Poshard.

The delegates nominated University of Illinois trustee candidates and Illinois electors to the Electoral College and confirmed Democratic National Committee members from Illinois for new terms. In addition, delegates considered and voted on proposed amendments to the state party platform.

"At the end of the convention, the standing-room-only crowd of Democrats was energized and committed to support a team to guarantee Democratic victories throughout Illinois on Nov. 3," Whitaker said. "It is a great feeling to see so many Democrats meet together and fight for much-needed change."

Later that evening, a Democratic assembly at the Springfield Hilton Hotel for a Democratic reception hosted by the Madison County Democratic Party.

The Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has announced the schedule for the Fall Focus Series, "From 'A' to 'Z': Architecture to Zebra Stripping."

The series is a part of its Lifetime Learning Activities classes for senior citizens. The classes, conducted in the Mississippi/Illinois Room of SIUE's University Center from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Wednesdays, are designed for those 55 years of age and older and range from programs in conversational German to participation in a stock market game and from square dancing to creative writing. Younger participants who enjoy exchanging viewpoints and gaining new information are also welcome.

Seventeen programs will be offered at seven sites. Registration fees are minimal. The class schedule follows:

Oct. 7 — "Modernizing the Myths of Aging" — Robert Schulteis, assistant to the dean of the SIUE School of Business, reviews the concept of the aging process in light of current understanding.

What are the modern myths and why are the old ones still around?

Oct. 14 — "Science Kits: The Latest in Science Experiences for Elementary School Children."

Virginia Moran, assistant professor in the department of chemistry and director of the Office of Science and Mathematic Education at SIUE, presents a series of science kits that promote a hands-on approach to learning science.

Oct. 21 — "The 1992 Election and the Politics of Discontent." John Farrell, associate professor of political science at SIUE, discusses the discontent expressed by American voters and how this election may or may not be different from others.

Oct. 28 — "Hildegard of Bingen: Visions from the Past, Wisdom for the Future." Ms. Jane Maxfield, an SIUE graduate and now a museum teacher at the St. Louis Art Museum, shares her research and ideas about the mystical images of Hildegard of Bingen, a 12th century "renaissance" woman.

Nov. 4 — "Television in the 21st Century." Riley Maynard, associate professor of mass communications and assistant to the director of broadcasting services at SIUE, will explore both the content of information and the means of disseminating it in the 21st century and how that will differ from current practices.

Nov. 11 — "The Homestead." Joseph Weber, SIUE professor of art and design, will present an introduction to the rural architecture of Madison County, highlighting the development of the C.P. Smith homestead in Ft. Tunesel Township, Edwardsville. A video will feature the architectural characteristics and family history associated with this homestead as described by Louella Smith Schroeber.

Nov. 18 — "Computers, Electrical Engineering and Surgery — A Clear Connection."

Kurt Smith, assistant professor of electrical engineering, will share insight into research he has conducted about "magnetic resonance imaging (MRI)." Participants will learn how the latest research melds computer vision techniques and MRI techniques and MRI to assist physicians during diagnosis, surgery, and recovery.

Nov. 25 — "No class." Dec. 2 — "Update on Alzheimer's." Doris Bell, professor in the SIUE School of Nursing, will share the latest information regarding both the medical and human side of Alzheimer's disease, exploring the emotional aspects of caring for a person with the disease. The fee for the entire Fall Focus Series is $8; the cost of attending each program is $1. For additional information, call 692-3209.

OBITUARIES

David Sadler

David Glen Sadler, 32, of Granite City, formerly of Venice and Missouri, died at 3 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 4, 1992, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, where he had been a patient for one day. He had been ill since 1989.

Mr. Sadler was born Feb. 8, 1960, in St. Louis and had been a 30-year resident of Granite City. He graduated from Venice High School.

He was employed for 28 years as an aluminum metal caster at Spectrallite Consortium Inc., Madison, retiring in 1992, and formerly was employed at the Dow Chemical Co. He was a member of First Baptist Church, Sons of the American Legion 113 and Steelworkers Local 4804.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Ellen (Schultz-Claridge) Sadler of Granite City, whom he married May 1, 1976; two stepsons, John Harbridge of Granite City and David Claridge of Aransas Pass, Texas; a twin sister, Glenda Wade of Leesburg, Va.; three other sisters, Lorene Drexel of Belle, Mo., Ruth Bray of Dixon, Mo., and Jessie Smith of Rolla, Mo.; two brothers, A.B. Sadler Jr. of Belle and the Rev. Lee Roy Sadler of Rolla, Mo.; his mother, Bessie Parker, Sadler of Belle; and four grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his father, the Rev. Arthur Bryan Sadler, in 1978, and one brother, Matthew Noah Sadler, in 1987. Visitation was held Monday at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road, Granite City, where prayer services were held Monday evening, with the Rev. Carl Watkins officiating. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. today at St. John Cemetery, Granite City.

Memorials are suggested for the American Heart Association or Masses to the church.

Betty Tomaselli

Betty (Harris) Tomaselli, 67, of Granite City, formerly of Harrisburg, Ill., died at 4:06 p.m. Friday, Oct. 2, 1992, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, where she had been a patient for six months.

Mrs. Tomaselli was born Dec. 27, 1924, in Harrisburg and had been a resident of Granite City for more than eight years. She was a homemaker and was of the Christian faith.

Survivors include her husband, John Tomaselli of Granite City; two daughters, Gina Horstmeier of Granite City and Diane Rowan of O'Fallon; a son, Johnny Tomaselli of Granite City; a sister, Shirley Alton of Longmont, Colo.; and three grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Sherman and Pearl (Kohrs) Harris.

Visitation was held Sunday at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road, Granite City, where services were held Monday with the Rev. Hugh Wallace officiating. Burial was at Calvary Cemetery, St. Louis.

Watson questions Virgin residency

In a down and dirty race for the 55th Senate District incumbent Sen. Frank Watson is trying to hit his opponent where he lives.

Discrepancies in the dates candidate Craig Virgin has given for when he moved to Illinois show that the Democrat from Lebanon may not meet residency requirements to run for the General Assembly, Watson charged.

"I think Mr. Virgin needs to come clean on how long he has resided in Illinois. By simply showing the people of his district his Illinois drivers license, he could prove how many years he has resided in Illinois," Watson, a Republican said.

"Hopefully, he will do this before the November election." State law calls for candidates to live in their districts for two years before an election, Watson said.

Watson, to back his charge, produced newspaper clippings that showed Virgin gave different dates as to when he moved from Georgia to Illinois.

On March 10, Virgin told the Chicago Tribune that he moved in 1990. On Sept. 25, he told the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that he moved in 1988.

Also in September, Virgin told a Vandalia radio station the reason he did not register to vote in Illinois prior to September 1991 was because no election had been held since he was a full-time resident, Watson said.

But, Watson said, indicates that Virgin did not return to Illinois from Georgia in 1991 until after the March municipal election.

"He has a definite constitutional problem," Watson said, pointing out that Virgin has admitted that he was not an Illinois resident until last year. If elected, he could be prohibited from serving.

Virgin, however, said the incumbent has not done his homework on the issue.

Candidates in the first election after redistricting have no residency requirements, Virgin said.

A spokeswoman for the State Board of Elections confirmed Virgin's claim.

Frank Watson knows that his record has caught up with him.

and he will try anything," Virgin said. "He did not even check the legality of his accusation before making it."

Virgin said there is no problem with his residency status.

He said he had dual residency in Georgia and Illinois from May 1989 until October 1991, and he has lived in Illinois since 1990.

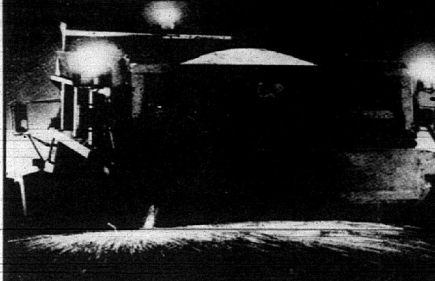

"If Frank was really serious about this nonsense, he would have challenged my nominating petitions in January," Virgin said.

"I was born here; I grew up here. I spent the vast majority of my life here, and no matter where I was during my athletic career, I have always been referred to as Craig Virgin from Lebanon, Illinois," the former Olympic runner said.

These words seem totally inadequate, but we mean them from the bottom of our hearts.

Thanks to the great crowd that accepted our invitation to "HAVE FUN AND HELP KIDS!" by turning out to enjoy the first St. Louis County Fair and Air Show which benefited both Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital and St. Louis Children's Hospital through the Children's Miracle Network.

Thanks to the great volunteers who worked so long and hard to put on this great family event. Thanks to our great corporate and individual sponsors who stepped up to the plate and funded our area-wide effort.

Thanks to the great entertainers, vendors and exhibitors who added to the fun and excitement that was in the air.

Thanks to the St. Louis County organization for spearheading our volunteer and civic efforts.

On behalf of all the children who will benefit from your kindness and generosity. Thank you!

We hope you had a whale of a time!

Zoo program, nature hike among October programs at Mounds

A ribbon work class, a nature hike and a joint program with the St. Louis Zoo are some of the activities planned for October at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site.

A Ribbon Work Class for adults will be held on Saturday, Oct. 10, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. American Indians have used ribbon work for more than 150 years to decorate clothing with floral or geometric designs.

Keith Fennell, who has received awards for her work at Indian events across the United States, will demonstrate her work, various sewing techniques, and teach the participants to apply a finished piece of ribbon work to an article of clothing.

Students will need to bring a zig-zag sewing machine, four 1- to 2-yard pieces of colored fabric and matching thread, scissors, straight pins, a 6-inch ruler, and the item of clothing to which the ribbon work will be applied.

Advance registration and a $20 fee are required.

For those who enjoy the outdoors, there will be a free Nature/Culture Hike on Sunday, Oct. 18, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

An archaeologist and a naturalist will lead hikers along a 5-mile trail through remote areas of the site explaining its archaeological features, research results and the Indian use of plants and animals observed along the trail.

Participants should meet at the Interpretive Center, bring a bag lunch, and come dressed for the weather. The hike will be canceled in case of rain.

Cahokia Mounds and the St. Louis Zoo will join forces for a unique educational program, "American Indians Use of the Native Animals of Illinois and Missouri," which will begin Saturday, Oct. 24, at 10 a.m. at the St. Louis Zoo's "Living World."

Zoo educator and zoologist Jim Jordan will present the morning program featuring live animals, broctos, natural history aids, and the video "The Indian and the Deer." After lunch, participants will move to the Cahokia Mounds Interpretive Center, where Education Director and archaeologist Suzanne Kitterer-Sibert will present the afternoon program featuring Native American hunting weapons, clothing and jewelry.

Hands-on activities will include face painting with animal derived designs and making spoons from fresh-water mussel shells. Class members will also make and identify animal tracks.

The program is geared for third-through sixth-grade students and their parents. Advance registration is required. For more information or to register, call Jim Jordan at the zoo at (314) 781-0900.

"Indian Diversity," an exhibit which examines cultures from the Northeast, Southwest, Southeast and Plains, continues through November at the Interpretive Center.

For more information call 346-5160.

Humane Society walk-a-thon raises $4,300

The third annual walk-a-thon for the Madison County Humane Society, held Sept. 19 on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, raised more than $4,300. There were more than 50 walkers.

Prior to the event, participants solicited pledges for miles walked. The leader was Pat Lyles with $400.

All walkers received a Humane Society coffee cup, and walkers turning in between $100 and $150 received a walk-a-thon T-shirt; those with over $200 received a sweat shirt.

Free soda was provided for the walkers by Pepsi-Cola Bottling in Aitton. Walkers also received a certificate for a cellular telephone and installation from Custom Communications Inc. of St. Louis. The event was sponsored by Cassens & Sons Inc. and Valley View Gardens of Edwardsville. Prudential Insurance of Glen Carbon, PetSmart of O'Fallon and Kishmann Design Group of Edwardsville and St. Louis architects/engineers for a new Humane Society animal shelter. The sponsors provided funds to pay for the event expenses.

INTERIOR AND EXTERIOR

"A Special Emphasis Section Focusing on Home Remodeling, Landscaping and Interior Decorating"

Here's an example of the versatility of contemporary windows that lets you choose the style and shape you want. This eye-appealing bay window in natural oak from Great Lakes Window makes it possible to add an expensive view yet maintain energy efficiency and freedom from maintenance.

Modern replacements shatter some worn out window myths

If your windows are worn out and it's been quite a few years since they were installed, you may be in for some surprises when you go shopping for new ones. Developments in engineering, technology, materials and manufacturing have led to contemporary windows that are light years ahead of their counterparts of just a decade ago. And the days when you simply replaced an old window with a newer version are long gone.

Nor are the reasons for replacing windows limited to old age. Today's homeowners should look for replacement windows that offer:

- energy efficiency
- beauty
- variety
- maintenance freedom
- new glazing options
- easy cleaning
- custom sizing

The energy efficiency of a window depends on its ability to eliminate air infiltration and how well the frame and glass resist heat flow in or out of the home. Air infiltration measures the amount of air passing through a window.

An old worn-out window has an air infiltration rate of 0.70. New technology casement windows have an air infiltration rate of zero. How well a window frame and glass resist heat flow is determined by what's known as R-factor. R stands for resistance. The higher the R-factor, the better the window at conserving energy.

A metal-frame window with a thermal break, for example, has an R-factor of 1.78. Because the frames are often filled with polyurethane insulation for maximum energy efficiency, their frame have an R-factor of 13.0. Glass is also rated by R-factor. Single-pane glass has an R-factor of 0.85. The soft coat, Low-E insulated glass — with argon gas between the panes — that's available in windows have an R-factor of 4.25, the highest in the industry.

Windows also have vinyl frames and sashes for the utmost in maintenance-free convenience and long-lasting beauty. Because the color goes all the way through the vinyl, the window frames and sashes never need painting.

The style of glass in a window also plays an important role in a home's appearance. Companies offer a range of decorative glass options, including Regal Provençal and Regal Colonial hand-cut glass, diamond grid, colonial grids and beveled leaded glass.

Unlike stock windows that only come in certain sizes, replacement windows can be custom designed, engineered and manufactured to fit the size and style of any window opening. This means there is no trimming or fitting.

Finally, there's no reason you have to replace a window with the same style. The versatility of modern windows makes it possible to choose window styles, shapes and colors that reflect your personal style. For example, consider replacing a series of double-hung windows with an attractive bow or bay window. Or, replace a window behind the kitchen sink with an elegant garden window to house your favorite plants.

Dishing up delicious dining decor — with imagination

Over the past few years, Americans have been dining and entertaining more often at home, giving the dining room a heightened importance for family and friends alike.

And the word "dining" is important. The well-dressed dining room is a place for savoring good food in a pleasant atmosphere, not eating on the run.

Just as you aim for a congenial mix of people at dinner parties, you can liven things up in the dining room with imaginative combinations of furniture.

For instance, anchor the setting with a pine trestle table, then add some unmatched wing- and Windsor-style chairs. Or create modern drama by teaming up a sleek contemporary table with slipcovered highback chairs and an ornate china cabinet. The combinations are endless.

While you're cooking up your dining room decorating dreams, aim for low maintenance in this high-use space.

Make sure carpeting in the dining area is stain-resistant, so accidental spills don't spoil a meal. Ditto for upholstered chairs, which also take their share of liquid punishment.

And put heat resistant pads under your table cloth, so you're not running off to the refineries at the drop of a pot.

Dining room tables take lots of wear and tear, so carefully check the quality of the piece you are considering. The Home

Furnishings Council's Haven decorating guide gives the following tips for selecting a dining room table:

• When choosing a wooden table, keep in the mind that joints that are mortise-and-tenon, dovetail or tongue-and-groove hold up best. Heavy pieces should also have corner blocks for added reinforcement.

• Look over the wood patterns to make sure they are well-matched and make sure the finish is smooth and blemish free.

• Painted and lacquered finishes are easy to clean, but should be guarded from dents and scratches that can result from very heavy use.

• Super finishes such as syn-

Borders can make decorating easy

Attractive, easy-to-install borders—those strips of wallcovering that can be installed in an hour or two to add visual excitement to the drabest room—are an inexpensive home improvement. Available in many styles, patterns and colors, borders can be applied over painted walls and offer years of durable service.

Many borders are washable. Some are strippable. This means all you have to do if you get tired of them is to peel them off the wall and apply another strip-able border for a completely new look.

Decorating with borders is as easy as can be. Just measure the distance around the room, says the Wallcovering Information Bureau, and add a little extra to compensate for matching patterns or trimming. Borders can also mask what some people view as architectural flaws. For example, to lower a ceiling that's too high visually, apply a border just below the ceiling line.

To make a low ceiling appear higher, place a border six inches below the standard chair rail height of 34-inches from the floor.

Give a room a more interesting look with a border placed just above or below an existing chair rail. Or customize the area around a kitchen countertop with

For elegance in the bath, use cultured marble/onyx fixtures

Using cultured marble or cultured onyx products will create a more elegant bathroom and take this ordinary room and turn it into an oasis worthy of the Romans of old.

The bath is the "fast track" room in homes today. It reflects the homeowners' taste and lifestyle. It is also the most "public" room in the home—the room your guest will certainly see. It can even be a health and body center with sauna, whirlpool and exercise equipment.

The bathroom has changed a great deal from the room of the past. In fact, it wasn't until 1920 that building codes required new houses to have an indoor bath and, at that time, builders and architects were only interested in meeting requirements, not in making it aesthetically pleasing.

The Romans and Greeks chose marble to symbolize elegance in public baths and other places and in private aristocratic homes.

Why? Because they found marble best illustrated their ideas of beauty, simplicity and endurance. This concept has captivated for more than 2,000 years. It has inspired sculptors and architects to create ageless works of art and it can add classic beauty and elegance to a home today.

Technology in our time has produced a contemporary version of this age-old stone. It has improved upon nature and created a man-made product with added advantages over the natural original and enabled the manufacture of bathroom fixtures that are not only beautiful but affordable.

Cultured marble is made with a blend of crushed marble and high strength polyester resin, molded and polished to form a strong, durable bathroom fixture.

Each unit is treated with a stain resistant, non-porous sanitary coating which has proved to withstand the wear and tear of time. It can be formed into virtually any shape and is available in almost any color.

Design flexibility. For the bath, cultured marble can be used to make vanity tops, bathtubs, tub surrounds, toilets, floor tile, baseboards, shelves, whirlpool baths, cabinet paneling, mirror frames and Roman columns, all both design and color coordinated.

Designers have found cultured marble to be a highly adaptable product that can fit into any decorating scheme from provincial to contemporary to modern.

When used for vanity tops, for instance, it easily becomes the focal point of the bath or powder room. An unlimited variety of plumbing spouts and faucets can be used with cultured marble to provide an individual touch to please any homeowner.

Integrally molded back splash panels are common in cultured marble vanities, as well as no-drip edges and molded-in soap dishes. Vanity bowls come in all shapes, sizes and colors including oval, shell round and a shampoo-style with an elongated, sloped contour for easier hair washing and to catch drips and splatters.

Cultured marble bathtubs and tub surrounds are available in limitless sizes and styles. Island, angled, sunken, raised, circular and, of course the familiar rectangular, are all readily available and simple to install in standard enclosures.

Custom designs and sizes and shapes are also available from some manufacturers. The also easily installed matching surrounds, wall panels and other accessories provide a coordinated "total marble" environment that will add not only to the homeowners' enjoyment and pride of ownership, but will enhance the resale value of the home.

Cultured onyx is also a man-made product of dramatic elegance. It simulates natural onyx. It has a translucent quality and is made of polyester resins, alumina trihydrate and/or glazing frits.

It, too, will give a very dramatic and elegant appearance to a bathroom and bath fixtures including vanities and lavatories, tubs (both regular and whirlpool) plus toilets and matching additional accessories.

Advantages:
•Beauty
•Durability
•Impact and fire resistance
•One-piece molding

In all shapes, cultured marble and onyx products are beautiful and durable. They can survive, without damage, impacts and thermal shock that might shatter or crack china and porcelain and they are resistant to stains, wear and the damaging effect of household chemicals.

Cultured marble and onyx, with their unique character, lower cost and custom possibilities, are an attractive alternative to many other materials.

Wide range of colors available. Virtually any color can be reproduced since these products are hand-fabricated. Whites, delicate pastels; bold solid hues and marble effects with subtle veining variations, in a full color rainbow spectrum, are available.

Normal care is very simple. Routine maintenance with mild liquid or a spray of non-abrasive household cleaner, sponge or cloth and water is all that is necessary although specially made products are available.

For tougher problems, an automotive polishing compound or baking soda will remove cigarette burns and simple scratches.

Water will not mark cultured marble or onyx products as it will the quarried stone or natural onyx.

Cultured marble and onyx must really be seen to be appreciated. The beauty of the veining and the subtle colorations, plus the drama of the products themselves, are most evident with a personal inspection.

To examine firsthand, check with bath and kitchen designers, most have showrooms; contact remodeling contractors; visit home centers, where you will probably find product displays; or look in the yellow pages of your telephone directory under marble (cultured) to locate the names of individual manufacturers.

When shopping for cultured marble or onyx, look for the Culture Marble Institute (CMI) National Association of Home Builders, Research Foundation logo.

Products bearing this label have passed a series of 12 tough tests. In addition to a visual inspection of the surface for defects and blemishes, they include tests for:

•Structural integrity—drain connections must be solid fitting. Impact testing submits the fixture to dropping of a half-pound steel ball, three times, from 20- to 36-inch heights.

•Colorfastness—Every tested product must withstand 200 hours of exposure to ultraviolet radiation and a temperature of 145 F.

•Stain resistance—Each piece is tested for resistance to seven common stains which are allowed to stand for 16 hours.

Colors of the past are perfect for today's home

The palette of Colonial Williamsburg is proof that the past can indeed color the present. In this historic Tidewater town, a lively kaleidoscope of brick, painted surfaces, tile, wallpaper and fabrics charms visitors, for ever banning the notion that colonial color schemes were limited to shades of grey.

Actually, woodwork was often painted grey during the early part of the 18th century, but during the latter part of the century the livelier colors we see today came into fashion. Paints in the strong revolutionary hues that stirred the new nation as well as the subtle tints of old-world elegance were used imaginatively, creating effects that are as valid today as back in Jefferson's day.

For example, the colonists painted trim and other woodwork to accent white-washed rooms, and muted wall colors were often highlighted by elaborate moldings painted white. Many doors were painted a different color than the rest of the trim, and local furniture made of pine was often painted, too.

Professional designers agree that 18th century design elements are amazingly versatile, and the paint colors of Colonial Williamsburg are no exception. Always easy on the eye and great mixers, they transcend time and trends, looking just as much at home in a contemporary room as in a strict period setting.

Jackie Smith, a designer for Colonial Williamsburg, feels that these colors owe their ageless charm and versatility to "natural compatibility." The entire palette, which ranges from classic neutrals and elegant pastels to rich golds and glowing reds, complements nature's own shadings," she explains. "So, these colors always look right. They can express simplicity or opulence, urban sophistication or country informality, the primitive or the highly decorative."

Apothecary Shop Blue and Wythe House Gold are good examples of the versatile woodwork colors. Paired with white washed walls, they will be as much at home in a contemporary living room furnished with leather, steel and glass as in the historic pharmacy on Duke of Gloucester Street or the elegant mansion where Jefferson studied law.

Another notable woodwork color is Charcoal Brown, which appears on trim, wainscoting and dados in Campbell's Tavern, where George Washington often dined. The crisp contrast of this color with whitewashed walls creates an effect so timeless and timely that it will be at home in any setting. But nobody says you have to copy the tavern's scheme to a T. If white seems too stark, such delectable hues as Palmetto Cream, King of Arms Light-Rose or Rattlesnake Tavern Peach will be fine, too.

Much sleuthing by the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation went into the color formulations: that now make up the Martin-Senour company's large collection of Williamsburg colors.

Foundation historians were faced with the fact that the colonial homes had been repainted many times. To find the original paint, careful scraping and minute examination of paint particles were necessary. They also ventured into dark closets, peeked behind cornices and scraped off layers of wallpaper, and the reward was often a look at paint that has remained amazing, bright and fresh after 200 years.

Some paint colors were reproduced from "recipes" found in instructions to painters or in old letters, ordering such exotic ingredients as verdigris, fish oil, lamp black and indigo. But naturally the formulations produced by Martin-Senour under license to the Foundation are totally up-to-date, easy to buy and easy to use. A far cry from the originals, which were so hard to come by.

A final note on these paints: the colors are consistent with those used in watercolorings, fabrics, ceramic tiles and other decorative elements produced by companies licensed by the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation. That makes decorating in the colonial tradition extra easy. For information on foundation licenses and an informational leaflet, send $1.50 to the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, Dept. 023 APB, P.O. Box 3532, Williamsburg, VA 23187.

Decorating ideas for 'problem' rooms

Do you have an odd-sized room that doesn't seem to work despite all your decorating attempts? Furniture doesn't fit? Traffic doesn't flow? Conversation stops cold?

Don't despair. A few easy steps can turn chaos into creativity.

Begin by opening yourself up to the opportunities the room presents. Thoroughly analyze the room. Imagine it completely empty without a design-limiting table like "living room" or "dining room." Then ask yourself the following questions. Who uses this room and what are its real uses? How do people enter and leave the room? Do the furnishings fulfill their functions?

Now that you know how the room is used, think about what furnishings should be kept and which should be replaced. Be ruthless.

It may seem practical to simply rearrange the furniture, but if you aren't going to make the room both attractive and functional, you'll still be displaced when the decorating is done.

Keeping in mind the furniture you will retain and the new pieces you will buy, plan the room's new layout on paper, using one-quarter-inch graph paper and templates cut to scale to show the furniture's size and shape.

A few hints for common room arrangement problems:

- Bring large rooms under control by using two or more furniture groupings.
- Maximize too-small spaces by paring down the number of furniture pieces in the room. Don't skimp on scale, though. Instead, let one large, impressive piece add grandeur and luxury.

- Tame a long, narrow room by turning a sofa or large desk at right angles to the wall — it will make the space seem wider. Or span a short wall with bookcases, or a large sofa for a broadening effect.

The accent is on accessories

While color and style are highly individualized choices, nothing makes a room more "you" than its accessories.

Be it one special piece, like a one-of-a-kind cracked glazed crock bought at a flea market, or a whole collection of variations on the same item, accessories make the personal statement. "This is my home."

The question most often asked is not what accessories to display, but how to display them attractively. According to experts at the Home Furnishings Council, the key concepts for winning displays are scale, balance and theme.

- Make a big statement by grouping small items together on a tabletop, mantel or shelf.
- Balance your arrangement with a variety of heights and shapes.
- Display large items like baskets on the floor or above the kitchen cabinets.

Decorating synonymous with diversity

Don't ask what the latest trend is in home furnishings—this season's buzz word is multi-trends. Individually will spark decorating success. Professionals and do-it-yourselfers alike, with "pleasure" being the most important part of any home furnishings shopping trip. Popular styles range from the rich, romantic poetry of floral Victorians to the hard-edge contrast of textured stone against steel. Soft knapped veneers are as evident as polished metallics in eclectic blends that range from elegant straight-forward minimalism to casually extravagant shabby chic.

With broader tastes taking the forefront, there is renewed interest in every imaginable style and color. Some of this season's newest introductions include:

- The retro-'40s look shapes up for fall with splashy patterns and comfy slipcovers.
- Teal-stained linens, look upholstery, redefines "casual" for the new wave of homebodies.
- New colors cross all visual boundaries. Gauguin-inspired corals and aquas provide South Sea magic. Nordic lights reflect the Swedish influence in pale, cool neutrals. Green moves out of the primary range into tones of lime and apple yellow. Pure white has a spiritual renaissance. Red gets down-to-earth with brownish highlights.
- Chaotic, humorous patterns dance across "Mambo King"—inspired prints.

With shoppers demanding a growing number of options, home furnishings stores offer a wide range of furniture and accessories.

Today's shopping experience allows customers to express their individuality in coordinating couches and chairs with cabinets and tables, tabletop accessories with bedding and even napsery with carpeting in every imaginable style and color.

To help shoppers prepare to explore their local home furnishings stores, the Home Furnishings Council publishes a free, full-color, 56-page guide to home decorating. Complimentary copies are available from stores displaying the Council's red and white "heart in home" logo.

thetic varnish, epoxy, vinyl, polyurethane and catalyzed lacquer are highly durable and resistant to alcohol.

Laminates clean easily, are long-lasting and resist grease and stains, but beware of setting very hot dishes or pots on them. High heat can cause buckling and separation.

Read hangtags carefully so you'll know the proper care of your table when you get it home. Comfort is high on the dining room list, too. With many people choosing individual pieces, rather than sets, a table must come from one manufacturer and chair from another, so make sure that chair's height corresponds to the height of the table.

And be certain the chairs are comfortable, with firm seats and good back support, since there's nothing that will speed up a leisurely dinner faster than uncomfortable seating.

And avoid cramming your dining style by allowing enough room between the table and wall for a seated person to get up easily—32 to 36 inches usually does the trick.

Flexible lighting is another dining room necessity. Overhead lighting can range from a crystal chandelier to a highly polished track, but be sure to install a dimmer switch to take you from that romantic dinner for two to a more casual, brightly lit family meal.

Today, many homes combine the dining area with the kitchen or living room, so setting up a dining room can often mean arranging a multipurpose space that can function as more than a simple meal.

Between meals, put idle space to work with some functional storage pieces like a hide-everything armoire for your home-office electronics.

Turn the corner cupboard into a cookbook library. Move a table off center to make space for a pair of wing chairs to make a cozy reading corner. Or put some heavy pads on the table—and you have a place for sewing, games and homework.

If space is a real problem, seek out an entertainment area with furniture that serves two functions, such as a fold-down table in a storage wall or a flip-top piece that doubles as a sofa table.

For flexibility accommodating any number of diners, choose a drop-leaf table. And remember, the chairs aren't married to the dining table—you can always bring in comfortable chairs from another room to provide additional seating for unexpected guests.

FALL IN LOVE WITH AUTUMN'S HEAVENLY HARVEST

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Those short days and crisp autumn nights were meant for warm-hearted foods that also heat up the taste buds and fill a body down to its toes.

Autumn vegetables play their role in filling up, but not out, as they peak the taste palate. Let them serve as the main part of a meal.

What fruits and vegetables come to mind with autumn? Apples naturally are first. Then pumpkin or acorn squash perhaps. But there are a lot of so-called "summer" vegetables — tomatoes, zucchini, cabbage, eggplant, bell pepper — that may be maturing at the garden or may be abundant and inexpensive at the market.

These recipe ideas show how versatile and user-friendly fruits and vegetables are. A hearty, warm dish made with red cabbage makes a lover of autumn want to go out and rub etchings of colored leaves. Try it with another seasonal favorite, fresh pears, and a new harvest combination has been born.

Pizza has many admirers. Try it with a rice crust and a melted cheese-and-vegetable topping to start a new tradition.

Squash — from spaghetti to zucchini, from acorn to hubbard — has variety in its corner. Winter squash generally is deeply hued. Early American settlers relied on it as a staple because its thick, hard shell keeps the flavorful, healthful flesh fresh for months. Of course, the shell of differences from its summer cousins. Acorn squash comes in many colors with multiple markings beyond the dark green of former days.

When selecting winter squash, check for hard, thick-shelled squash that feel heavy for their size. Vitamin A is abundant in all squash, even after cooking.

Pumpkin is a useful, playful member of the squash family; that can be used in main parts of the meal, but is better known in desserts.

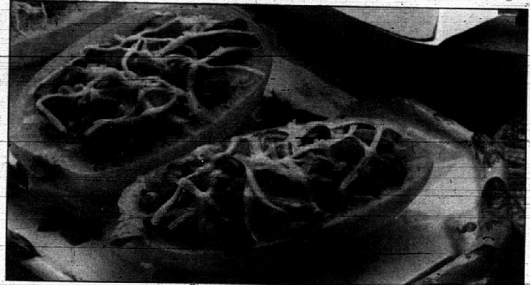

Spaghetti squash is a favorite this time of year, too. It usually is baked or microwaved after cutting in half, with its skin on. Like with other hard-shelled squash, when it is cooked with its shell on, its shell should be pricked several times to allow steam to escape. If previous attempts to master the flavor of spaghetti squash has not succeeded, give it another try with any topping you would use on a baked potato.

A whole or half squash that has been baked and hollowed makes a good server or bowl for soup or cauldron of — in the case of pumpkin, a steamed, simmering stew.

The cheese used in these recipes can be replaced, if desired, with other light-colored, mild-flavored varieties. For other Norwegian cheese recipes, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Cheeses From Norway, Burrell Group Ltd., 12 West 55th St., Suite 4A, New York, N.Y., 10019.

Stuffed spaghetti squash

- 1 (2 1/2 to 3 lb.) spaghetti squash or 2 smaller squash
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 medium green bell pepper, chopped
- 2 large cloves garlic, minced
- 1 can (16 oz.) red kidney beans, drained
- 1/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded jarlsberg or jarlsberg light cheese, divided
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper

Cut spaghetti squash in half lengthwise. Scrape out seeds. Place on rack over simmering water. Cover and steam 20 minutes until tender. Cool. When cool enough to handle, scrape strands into bowl, leaving 1/2-inch thick walls. Place squash shells in shallow baking pan.

Preheat oven to 450°. In large skillet sprayed generously with nonstick cooking spray, sauté onion, pepper and garlic 4 minutes over medium-high heat. Remove from heat. Add squash strands, beans, 1 cup cheese, salt and pepper. Stir to blend well.

Spoon into shells. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Bake in preheated oven 12 to 13 minutes until lightly browned.

Makes 4 servings; 260 calories, 18 g protein, 30 g carbohydrate, 7 g fat, 20 mg cholesterol and 710 mg sodium, using reduced-fat cheese.

Harvest vegetables au gratin

- 1 large onion, cut in thin wedges
- 2 medium red or green bell peppers, seeded, diced
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 large tomatoes, coarsely chopped
- 1 medium acorn squash, peeled, seeded, cubed (about 3 cups)
- 2 medium zucchini, sliced
- 1 can (16 oz.) pinto beans, drained
- 1 to 2 tsp. chopped fresh or 1 tsp. dried basil
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded jarlsberg cheese

In a 3-quart Dutch oven sprayed with nonstick cooking spray, cook onion, pepper and garlic over medium-high heat. Cook, covered, 5 minutes. Add tomatoes, acorn squash, zucchini, beans, basil and oil. Bring to boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat to medium. Simmer, partially covered, 20 to 25 minutes until vegetables are tender. Sprinkle with cheese.

Note: For individual dishes, bake 15 to 20 minutes, then cover and let stand 5 minutes or until cheese melts.

Makes 6 servings; 240 calories, 16 g protein, 25 g carbohydrate, 9 g fat, 30 mg cholesterol and 620 mg sodium each.

Provencal pizza

- 1 large onion, cut in thin wedges
- 2 cloves garlic, pressed
- 1 small eggplant, peeled, cut in 1/4-inch cubes (about 3 cups)
- 2 medium tomatoes, chopped
- 1 small red bell pepper, chopped (optional)
- 1/2 tsp. oregano
- 1/2 tsp. sugar
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. crushed red pepper
- 3 cups cooked brown rice
- 3 egg whites
- 1 1/2 cups (8 oz.) shredded jarlsberg cheese, divided

Generously spray 10-inch skillet with nonstick spray and heat over medium heat. Sauté onion and garlic 5 minutes. Add eggplant, tomatoes, pepper, oregano, sugar, salt and pepper. Increase heat to high. Cook, covered, 5 minutes. Reduce heat to low. Cook 7 to 8 minutes longer until vegetables are tender.

Preheat oven to 450°. Spray 12-inch pizza pan and rubber spatula with nonstick cooking spray.

Combine rice, egg whites and 1 cup cheese. Spread rice mixture on pan, building up outside edge to form crust. Bake in preheated oven 20 minutes. Spread eggplant mixture over crust; top with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Bake 5 minutes longer until cheese melts.

Makes 6 servings; 260 calories, 14 g protein, 35 g carbohydrate, 7 g fat, 25 mg cholesterol and 370 mg sodium each.

Sugar takes too much blame

By Cynthia Fausser
Carol wants to know how to make her famous chocolate pie with artificial sweetener to cut calories. Sam tells her how great his diet is going with the help of those all-fruit spreads. He loves the taste, and they just have fruit juice—not added sugar. Joann says she doesn't let her son have sweets because they make him "hyper."
All these people have concerns about sugar, but sugar is innocent of most charges against it. Sugar can be reduced in most recipes by one-third or more, without resorting to artificial sweeteners.
Because Carol only serves her wonderful pie on special occasions, we decided not to change it. If Carol's diabetic sister visits, Carol decided that a simpler fruit-based dessert like baked apples would be a better choice. Apples can be baked in a microwave oven quickly enough for a breakfast treat while eggs are being scrambled.
Sugar does not cause obesity; excess calories do. Studies show that obese people actually eat less sugar than thin people. If sugar were the cause, artificial sweeteners would have ended the problem. They have not.
No added sugar can be misleading on labels, such as Sam's all-fruit spread. I tell Sam I love their taste, too, and that in the small quantities jams are eaten he can continue to enjoy them as a replacement for higher-calorie butter or margarine. An actual comparison of labels with regular jams and jellies shows Sam that the concentrated fruit juices used in these spreads contribute as many sugar calories.

Sugar does not make children "hyper." There have been a number of studies to disprove this idea. It is interesting, however, that most high-sugar events for kids are celebrations like holidays and birthdays where children can sense a slackening of rules for everyday behavior.
Too much sugar does contribute to tooth decay, especially if eaten as frequently as a sticky snack. With an average consumption of 125 pounds sugar per person per year, the costs some families incur for fillings could buy some great furniture for the den or bikes for the whole family.
I applaud Joann's efforts at providing lots of snacks that are high in nutrition and low in sugar, but encourage her not to use sugar as a scapegoat when her son misbehaves.
She can save more money up front by buying fewer high-sugar, empty-calorie foods. An occasional soda, for instance, but it is hard to justify spending up to 65 cents for a 12-ounce can of liquid containing nine teaspoons sugar and some fizz.
I prefer to mix club soda or sparkling mineral water and any fruit juice in equal amounts. It is refreshing and has only four teaspoons sugar (80 calories) in 12 ounces. For a "flavored water," use a lot less fruit juice with very few calories. A slice of lime, sprig of mint and sparkling water is a no-calorie delight.

When I buy a 2-liter bottle of club soda or sparkling mineral water on sale to mix with juice, the cost is about 27 cents for 12 ounces, compared to 80 cents for some 12-ounce bottles of flavored sparkling mineral waters. Watch for sales on flavored mineral water. I saw some recently that only cost about 20 cents for a 12-ounce serving when bought in a two-liter bottle.

Recipes

Sweet-and-sour pork

- 1 to 1 1/2 lb. pork tenderloin, partially frozen
 - 1 tsp. oil
 - 2 medium green bell peppers, cut in 1 inch squares
 - 1 medium onion, quartered
 - 1 clove garlic, minced
 - 1 cup thinly sliced mushrooms
 - 1 can (15% oil) pineapple chunks in juice, drained, reserving 1/2 cup juice
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 2 tsp. cornstarch
 - 1/2 tsp. white vinegar
 - 1 tsp. ketchup
 - 1/2 cup peach preserves or preserves
- Remove any fat from pork. Slice 1/4-inch thick.
In small saucepan, combine juice, water, cornstarch, vinegar, ketchup and peach preserves. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, 5 to 8 minutes until thick and bubbly.
In wok or electric skillet, heat 1 tablespoon oil. Stir-fry pork (at 375°) for 3 to 4 minutes until meat is just browned. Remove from wok.
Add 1 teaspoon oil. Stir-fry green pepper, onion, garlic and mushrooms 2 to 3 minutes.
Return pork to wok. Add pineapple. Pour reserved sauce over pork mixture. Cook and stir until bubbly.
Serve with hot cooked rice.
Yields 4 servings.

Meat 'n potatoes gets new life with crunch, variety

Tired of tuna? Bored with meatloaf? Avoiding the kitchen because you can't face another broiled chicken breast?

If a different hairstyle and a new outfit can change the way you look, a menu makeover can do wonders for the way you cook. Here is how.

Like any makeover, the basic elements or ingredients where to start. In this case, try to make the most of the best features of meat and side dishes. Possible options include:

- Changing the form. Meatballs can be served instead of burgers.
- Substituting one ingredient for another, such as barley instead of rice.

- Adding a colorful garnish, like fresh basil leaves and cherry tomatoes.

To build confidence, start with these two makeovers. While the "before" tasted good, the "after" are even better.

Italian Meatball Kabobs with Oven-Fried Potatoes gives the same old meatball and scalloped potatoes an exciting new look. By shaping a ground meat mixture into meatballs and threading them onto skewers with colorful summer vegetables, they can be grilled or broiled. Potatoes cut in thick wedges and coated with wheat germ and herbs bake up crispy on the outside, while they stay tender on the inside.

Wheat germ is used in the kabobs, too, to replace bread or cracker crumbs and extend the lean ground beef to make meatballs for a second meal. For an encore appearance, the meatballs and vegetables can be heated in prepared spaghetti sauce, then spooned into Italian rolls or served over pasta.

Instead of settling for a plain club sandwich, savor a cool and colorful Classy Club Salad. All the components are there — lettuce, tomato, turkey, even crispily cooked bacon.

For Two Or a Few

Serve it with an easy home-made garlic toast. Just brush whole wheat bread with melted margarine combined with garlic powder, sprinkle with wheat germ and bake.

Oven-fried potatoes

- 1 large potato (about 9 oz.)
 - 1 egg white, slightly beaten
 - 2 tsp. water
 - 1/4 cup wheat germ
 - 1/4 tsp. salt, if desired
 - 1 tsp. dried leaf rosemary
 - 1 tsp. garlic powder
 - Pinch black pepper
- Preheat oven to 400°. Lightly spray cookie sheet with nonstick cooking spray.
- Wash and scrub potatoes. Cut lengthwise in eighths. Dip potatoes into combined egg white and water, then into combined wheat germ, 1/4 teaspoon salt, rosemary, garlic and black pepper. Bake in preheated oven 25 to 30 minutes until potatoes are done. Makes 2 servings.

Italian meatball kabobs

- 1 lb. lean ground beef
 - 1/2 cup original toasted wheat germ
 - 1 egg white, slightly beaten
 - 2 tsp. Italian seasoning
 - 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
 - 1/2 tsp. salt, if desired
 - 2 medium onions, cut in eighths
 - 2 yellow, red or green bell peppers, cut in chunks
 - 2 large zucchini or yellow squash, cut in thick slices
- Combine beef, wheat germ, egg white, Italian seasoning, garlic powder and salt. Mix well. Shape into 1 1/2 to 2-inch balls.
- On four skewers, alternately arrange meatballs, onions, peppers and zucchini.

pers and zucchini. Grill over medium-hot coals or broil 4 to 5 inches from heat source 5 to 8 minutes per side or until desired doneness.

Makes 3 to 4 servings. Extra meatballs can be warmed with prepared spaghetti sauce and served over hot cooked pasta.

Classy club salad

- 1/2 cup plain nonfat yogurt
- 2 tbsp. mayonnaise
- 1 tbsp. chopped chives, parsley or cracked peppercorns (optional)
- 1/4 tsp. margarine, melted
- 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
- 4 slices whole wheat bread
- 1/4 cup original toasted wheat germ
- 3 cups mixed salad greens
- 1/2 cup chopped cooked turkey breast
- 1/2 cup chopped tomato

- 1/2 cup shredded carrot
 - 1/2 cup thinly sliced red onion
 - 1/2 cup crisply cooked bacon, crumbled (optional)
- Preheat oven to 400°. Combine yogurt, mayonnaise and chives. Combine margarine and garlic powder. Brush bread slices on both sides with margarine mixture. Dip bread into wheat germ, coating on both sides. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Heat in preheated oven 3 to 4 minutes per side until toasted. Cut in strips.

Eagles Auxiliary initiates 10.

Ten new members were initiated into Eagles Auxiliary #1126 at the Eagles Home.

Initiates were Rosclar Miller, Mary Mang, Betty Portell, Margie Gall, Darlece Winters, Margie Jackson, Vicki Walker, Nancy Smith, Mary Greco and Ann Weiss.

Each new member was presented with the rules and regulations and her receipt of membership.

Auxiliary officers performing the initiation were: president, Joanna Spencer; junior past president, Del Delaney; vice president, Barbara Modrusic; chaplain, Ann Pates; and conductor, Vera Johnson.

Three new applications for membership and one re-enrollment were read by Secretary Vincine Zerlan, and balloting was held on three applicants. Get-well cards were sent to members by visiting chairman Evalene Ederle.

Barbara Modrusic was escorted to the altar and presented with a plaque from the state Golden Eagle Education Fund chairman in recognition for being the highest fund-raiser in the state for 1991-92 in the amount of $1,600.

It was announced that $55 was sent to the Hurricane Andrew fund in Florida from the state disaster fund.

There will be a pot luck luncheon honoring all past presidents at the Oct. 27 meeting, at 6:30 p.m., with a regular meeting at 8 p.m.

Jeanie Burton announced that the annual Auxiliary bazaar and craft show will be held at the Eagles Home from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 10 and 11.

Tables may be reserved by calling Burton at 797-1776. Proceeds will go to the state education fund.

President Spencer announced there will be an Auxiliary Alzheimer benefit dinner at the Eagles Home at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 12.

Food will be prepared by National Food Store and the tickets will be $4 per person.

Prizes were awarded to Barbara Seibert and Florence Hagauer, with lunch served after the meeting.

Salon 53 of Eight and Forty installs officers for year

Madison County Salon 53 of the Eight and Forty met at the Alhambra American Legion on Sept. 15.

A noon luncheon was served by hostesses Shirley Landolt, Kathryn Roberts, Lucille Korsch, and Edith Ruchrup. There were 17 present.

Installation of officers for the 1992-93 year was held. Judy Zimmerman, Departmental L'Aumonier and a post chapeau of Madison County, acted as installing officer. She was assisted by Geraldine Tjaden as installing LaConcierge and Florence Horn as installing L'Aumonier.

The following were installed: Chapeau Shirley Landolt of Alhambra; Demi Chapeau Premier Elsie Vieregge of Bethalto; Demi Chapeau Deuxieme Kathryn Roberts of Alhambra; LaConcierge Dorothy Hinson of Madison; LaCassiere Norma Hillmer of Madison; L'Archiviste Georgia Pollard of Highland; L'Aumonier Florence Horn of Alton; and LaConcierge Adaline Drury of Alton.

Following the ceremony, the business meeting was conducted by Shirley Landolt, chapeau. A report of the Departmental LaMarche was read by Dorothy Hinson in the absence of Marjorie Rosenthal, Pouvoir member. Children and Youth Chairman Kathryn Roberts moved to donate $10 to each of the projects under the First C and Y Drive, which is donations to the National Jewish Center in Denver for children with respiratory diseases. She asked members to begin making toys and pillows for the Gateway Chapter of Cystic Fibrosis for the November meeting.

Irene Schneek, finance chairman, reported on the card party, which was very well attended and made a good profit. The monthly prize was won by Betty Leroy.

Betty Leroy, Nurses Scholarship chairman, passed the bank and collected $9.32 for the fund. The department will be sent $50 for the Nurses Scholarship fund.

Adaline Drury, Ritual and Emblems chairman, asked everyone to wear white or red and white and to be sure to wear pins.

Donations of $15 for the Red Book Page and $20 for the Departmental Chapeau Travel will be sent this month.

The Fall Pouvoir will be held in Homewood, Ill., Oct. 10 and 11. Six partners will be attend.

Judy Zimmerman attended the LaMarche Nationale in Chicago.

In August, She reported on the events there.

There will be only two funds for the National Jewish Center in Denver this year: the Pediatric Care and Research Fund and the All Partners Fund. As Departmental LaConcierge last year, Judy Zimmerman received the National Award for Central Division for her report of activities. Illinois received the National Children and Youth Award for the most dollars contributed to Children and Youth.

Hostesses for the months for 1992-93 were reviewed and plans made for the year.

Those attending from this area were: Dorothy Hinson, Norma Hillmer, Frances Cowley, and Loretta Ziegler.

The next meeting will be at noon in Alton on Oct. 20.

Two health screenings set

St. Elizabeth Medical Center's CardioPulmonary Rehab and Prevention Program will offer cholesterol testing, blood pressure checks and blood sugar screenings at two locations this month. Each test includes a professional consultation with a registered nurse or a registered dietitian on the results.

The health screenings will be offered:

From 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 8, at the Granite City, Schnucks 3401 Nameoki Road. Participants will be seen on a first-come, first-served basis. No appointments are needed.

From 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 21, at the Wellness Center, 2103 Iowa St., Granite City. Appointments are required; persons may call 786-2207 to reserve a time.

Cholesterol level screenings, blood pressure tests and professional consultation on the results will be offered at both locations for $7. Blood sugar tests, blood pressure tests and professional consultation on the results will be offered for $1.

The National Institute of Health recommends that all adults age 20 and over have their blood cholesterol levels checked.

With a lifetime of bittersweet memories behind them, Buddy Young Jr. (Billy Crystal, right) and his manager/brother Stan (David Paymer) share a moment in Central Park, in 'Mr. Saturday Night.'

Crystal's 'Mr. Saturday Night' misses the mark

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

There are two things missing from 'Mr. Saturday Night': an effective main character and balance in the movie's humor. Billy Crystal plays Buddy Young Jr., an aged stage and television comedian in the twilight of his career. David Paymer as Young's brother and longtime manager turns in a much more engaging performance. Crystal's lack of depth as a dramatic actor is evident in his scenes with Paymer. Using flashbacks, 'Mr. Saturday Night' traces Buddy's performing career from a kid entertaining his family in the living room after dinner to his own network television show. Throughout the climb, Crystal's Young is a selfish man blind to the needs of anyone around him. Midway through the film, Young's problems and stories coalesce to interest me. In addition, his humor was repetitive and mostly juvenile.

Kickers edged in tourney opener

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

The Warrior soccer team has little left to prove on this side of the river. But their success against St. Louis schools isn't quite the same. For the first time in eight years, Granite City was a loser in the first game of the Tournament of Champions on Monday, dropping a 2-1 decision to Oakville. The Warriors played Chamaine at 6:30 tonight, and will most likely have to win that one and Friday's game with Francis Howell North to advance.

Sophomore John Nizinski gave Granite City a 1-0 lead on a penalty kick early in the second half, but the Tigers (8-7) rallied to equalize by Paul Godwin and Todd Lee.

Nizinski was the hero for the win. The Warriors are 8-0-1 against Illinois schools this year. But they are 0-4-2 against St. Louis schools. "That's maturity," said coach Gene Baker. "The truth is we're getting beat up in these games. They play very hard on that side of the river, and all the younger players we're using were have to get used to that. We come out of games like this bruised and battered."

Granite City was 6-1 three weeks ago and ranked second in the Journal poll. But they have won only two of their last eight, and have fallen to seventh. "We felt we had a chance to win this game and let them off the hook," said Baker. "Oakville became very aggressive after we got our goal and we didn't respond."

Nizinski got his second goal of the year on a penalty kick at 41:25 after a hand ball violation on the Tigers near the goal. "Usually on a play like that the call will be made for the ball coming out, but that was bizarre," said Oakville coach Dave Robben. "In the past we might have hung our heads after that. But we wanted to play harder."

Godwin tied it at 50:27. John Hylla sent the ball into the penalty area and Warrior goalie Mike Bristol couldn't punch it out of danger. Godwin was there to head it in.

Todd Lee got the winner at 58:05 with a tremendous shot from 35 yards out. He snuck it inside the post past a diving Bristol.

Magic in the air

10/4/86 will live in GCHS memory forever

By Art Voellinger
Correspondent

It is etched in his memory so well that Tim Hogan can recite chapter and verse of the Oct. 4, 1986, upset of East St. Louis as if it were yesterday.

"They had won 44 straight and we had lost 60-0 to them the previous year," Hogan said the other day after he had finished his duties as a student-teacher in physical education at O'Fallon High School.

With East Side and Granite City having played last Friday in Granite City, where the Warriors remain the last Southwest Conference team to beat the Flyers, who better than the QB of the upset to reminisce?

"I know our coach (Ron Yates) thought we could compete with them, but our team believed we could win," said Hogan of the game that might have drawn the largest crowd in Granite City football history.

From 60-0 to a 17-14 victory? Impossible. "The game came at the right time," explained Hogan. "We had won our last three games of the 1985 season and the first four of 1986."

The Flyers had won three straight state championships and had not lost since the 1982 state quarterfinals. With 44 straight wins, they were starting to think about the state record 64-game winning streak set by Pittsfield.

Hogan was aware that there were a few people who thought along the same lines, like veteran Press-Record sportswriter Al Barnes, whose column predicted the upset.

from 1966-73. But the Warriors — then in their third season under Yates — had finished strong in 1985 and started out 4-0 in 1986. It had rained heavily the night before, and the wet field served to slow the Flyers down just enough. All in all, there seemed to be magic in the air. The time was ripe for a magical happening.

Hogan was aware that there were a few people who thought along the same lines, like veteran Press-Record sportswriter Al Barnes, whose column predicted the upset.

"Our confidence grew during the game," said Hogan, who recalled a 26-yard field goal by Jim Parker in the first quarter to give the Warriors the lead.

"Once we went ahead, we all believed," said the 5-foot-10, 155-pounder whose physical appearance is only slightly different than when he was a high school senior.

The Warriors, indeed, never trailed in the game. They kept the Flyers at bay in the first quarter on interceptions by each of the Hogan twins. Then they took a 10-0 lead in the second quarter on what QB Hogan called a "sideline and go" pass to his twin brother, Jamie. "It was a fourth down and 16 from their 26 or 27," said Tim. "I threw the ball to the right corner of the end zone right in front of the pylon, and Jamie caught it with his back to the back line and got hit hard on the play, but held onto the ball."

East St. Louis, which featured future collegiate greats like running back Marvin Lampkin (Iowa), quarterback Kerwin Price (Arkansas) and linebacker Juleon Brown (Illinois) —, names easily cited by Tim Hogan — cut the score to 10-7 by the end of the half on an 11-yard touchdown run by Orlando Cherry.

"But we came back and held them even though we did not score until the fourth quarter," said Hogan. "Momentum came in the form of a drive at the start of the half, but it was a halfback draw to Len Whiteside at the start of the fourth quarter that gave the Warriors the decisive score."

East Side ran about 25 yards for the touchdown, and when we went ahead by 10 (17-7) that late, we knew we could win," said Hogan. "It was a good call." Whiteside said after the game. "Actually, I didn't think it would go that far. I just kept running."

But the explosive Flyers weren't quite finished. They went 75 yards in 14 plays, with Lawrence "Pops" Moore catch

Spikers win only one at CV tourney

By Brian Henry

Cindy Gagich was hoping her team would make Central won the tournament for the second year in a row in a 15-11, 15-11 victory over Red Bud.

"Inconsistency was the word of the day," said Gagich. "If you can learn from your mistakes, it makes it a positive experience. We looked bad in the first game and it went from there."

The Warriors showed signs of inconsistency in their second game against Carbondale. They jumped out to an 11-0 lead before putting the Terriers to sleep. 10-0 in the second game, it was Carbondale which got off to a quick start, rolling off the first eight points. The Warriors scored 15 of the next 17 points, with Kami Kessel serving the last six points for her team's only win of the day.

Kessel served 17 points in the three matches, which was tops for the Warriors.

"The Carbondale match was a perfect example," said Gagich. "I thought we were in trouble for a while in the second game. But the kids hung

'Cheater's Night' helps wrap up 1992 season at speedway

By Rick Stoff

Cletus Blackwell starred in the first City Speedway October Racefest on Saturday with two modified victories.

With the modifieds making their first appearance on Tri-City's half-mile oval, Blackwell topped Dale Russell and Terry Meyers in the first feature. Blackwell was shipped back to the fifth row for the start of the second 15-lap feature, but led the last two laps. Terry Cox was second and Dave Jones third.

Phil Heavenslow went 3-for-3 in Racefest midgets, winning his heat, the Clark Oil Dash for Gas and the feature. The first two wins came with relative ease, but a fading chassis set-up left the feature up for grabs.

After two seasons on the track's quarter-mile, the Racefest gave pro stock drivers an unusual opportunity to race the half-mile in a no-rules "Cheater's Night."

"Cheater's Night," Pat Ryan brought a radical roofless street stock sporting fat late model tires and a huge rear wing that led the opening laps of the feature, but coasted into the pits with mechanical problems. Several other engines succumbed to the strains of the long Tri-City flights.

Rick Rhoades led the last 10 laps to take the Cheater's Night crown in a car he insisted complied with the track's regular season rules. Ryan and John Pate won the pro stock heats.

In American Sprint Car series action, features were won by Tommy Mikels and Chuck Schlosser.

Warriors' Fisher takes his hits, gets his yardage

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

Ron Fisher could be the best kept secret in the area.

But he might not stay that way for long after his performance Friday against mighty East St. Louis. Replacing senior running back Jeff Luffman (shoulder injury), the Warrior junior running back didn't waste his opportunity.

He ran for 110 yards on 29 carries and turned in an outstanding performance against one of the best teams in the nation. The Flyers are ranked No. 1 in the area and state, and eighth nationally.

For his efforts, Fisher has been named this week's East Side Publications Journal Athlete of the Week.

"I'm so proud of Ron," said

Granite City coach Don Harris. "I always knew the potential was there, but I was just waiting for it to rise. It certainly did against East St. Louis. He ran the ball with authority against an excellent team. He took some shots, but it never phased him. He just got up and ran the next play."

Harris was concerned about Fisher's durability.

"Ron's well put together (5-8, 175 pounds)," Harris said. "He carried the ball a lot on the sophomore level, but we didn't know how he'd hold up on the varsity level. He showed us Friday he can take a hit."

Fisher loves to run the football in traffic. He likely didn't do much dancing on Saturday after running into the teeth of the rugged Flyer defense all Friday night. But he never backed down, as his 29 carries will attest.

"I love getting hit," he said. "It adds something to your game. If I get popped pretty good, I just jump right back up. It's a message to the defensive couldn't believe his eyes when he gazed at the stat sheet. "I was surprised," Fisher said. "I had some nice runs, but I never thought it was for that many yards. It's a special feeling doing that against a great team like East St. Louis."

Now, the coaches know what

I can do running the football.

Maybe I'll get a few more chances to play running back the rest of the season.

"No question about that," Harris said.

Other candidates for Athlete of the Week are: Dupu running back Brandon Portell, Madison quarterback Orlando Porter and

Granite City soccer player Paul

Buecherich.

Each week one varsity athlete

from Granite City, Madison,

Venice, Cahokia, Dupu, East St.

Louis or Lincoln high schools is selected by the Journal sports

staff as the East Side Publications

Journal Athlete of the Week. Selected athletes are eligible for consideration as the Journal

Athlete of the Month.

HAVING AN ACCIDENT IS BAD ENOUGH.
DON'T LET ANOTHER ONE HAPPEN IN THE BODY SHOP.

When you get bodywork done on your GM car or truck, you might assume that genuine GM parts will be used. Not so. Many second-rate imitations are available on the market. And some insurance companies specify, "genuine equipment". Many imitations don't meet GM's strict standards for fit & finish, corrosion resistance or structural strength. That can mean serious problems down the road.

in there and won it." The Warriors would have had to beat Red Bud to advance to the third-place game. Granite City took a 13-8 lead in the first game, but it disappeared in a 15-13 loss.

In the pool play, the teams only play two games and, if they split, it goes down as a tie. The Warriors could have tied Red Bud—which would have sent East St. Louis to the title match, but the Musketeers scored the last eight points of the second game to win 15-10.

"We knew we had to win two to (advance)," said Gagich. "When we lost the first game, we knew we weren't going anywhere. But still, you try to encourage them to play 100 percent because there were some things at stake."

The Warriors played Highland on Monday and traveled to East St. Louis on Tuesday. Granite City plays at Belleville West next Thursday and then plays at the McCluer North tournament on Saturday.

For those keeping track, that's nine games in eight days counting Saturday. Gagich said she believes this week will make or break the season.

"This is going to be the turning point of our season," said Gagich. "This will give us a good sense of where we stand."

"If Todd were to shoot like all the time he would probably be the MVP of the tournament," said Robben.

ing a 12-yard touchdown pass on fourth and 7 with 4:45 left to trim the margin to 17-14.

Price finished just 6 of 19 for 49 yards, and the Flyers had only one play from scrimmage longer than 18 yards.

"I don't think they had ever had to establish a 60- or 70-yard drive," said Yates. "They usually busted a big one to go on top."

East Side got the ball back twice more after Moore's touchdown, but Price couldn't complete a pass on either series.

"I knew they tried three straight (passes) at one point," said Hogan, who added that he still can hear the final gun, the roaring crowd and THE VIC-TORY.

"I don't even remember the last seconds of the game," said Yates. "All I remember is being surrounded by a bunch of people."

That would be the mass of crazed Warrior fans who swarmed the field after the final gun had sounded. It is a day that will live forever.

And it was no fluke. Granite City has clearly the better team that day. They outgained and outthrew the Flyers. Steve Sutphin knocked Lampkin out of the game early with a big hit.

"Granite City executed well," said Flyer coach Bob Shannon. They controlled the clock and the football. We had a lot of respect for them, and they beat us in just about every aspect of the game."

And the Warriors were no one-hit wonders. They finished 8-3 and won their first Southeastern Conference title since 1946. Team captains were the Hogans, Kabbendjian and Tim Davis.

They did lose a rematch to the Flyers in the second round of the playoffs, 20-0, on that same Memorial Stadium turf exactly five weeks later. That was disappointing, but it only served to make the afternoon of Oct. 4, 1986, all the more special.

(Epilogue: The Flyers still haven't lost a game to a St. Louis-area team since.)
